

SENATE PROHIBITION HEARING NEARS CLOSE

DRYS SEEK ADDITIONAL HOURS FOR THEIR CASE

CLAIM SEN. REED CONSUMED A LOT OF TIME IN CROSS EXAMINATION

WAYNE B. WHEELER WILL NOT TAKE THE STAND AT HEARING

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, April 21.—Drys and wets reopened their clash over the question of fairness and procedure of the senate prohibition committee as the hearing drew near a close today.

Wayne B. Wheeler, chief counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, demanded that the dries be allotted three additional hours, because Senator Jim Red, democrat, Missouri, wet, had taken up that much time in cross examining of their witnesses.

CLIMAX TO HEARING HAS BEEN EXTINGUISHED

Washington, April 21.—The long awaited climax of the senate prohibition hearing, examining of Wayne B. Wheeler, head of the Anti-Saloon League, by Senator Jim Red, Missouri, democrat, wet, noted as a prosecutor, will be prevented.

Wheeler announced today that he had changed his original intention of taking the witness stand, and would confine his activities to a speech summing up the dry case.

Reed is known to have prepared to examine Wheeler concerning statements of influence he exercised over public officials, contained in recently published memoirs, and also concerning contributors and expenditures of the Anti-Saloon League.

Reed may make an effort to go in to the points he is eager to bring out while Wheeler is making his summing up speech, but the dries intend to thwart any such move.

Wheeler is in complete control of the dry time and can decline to take the stand.

Reed had already made charges that the dries were treating him unfairly in forcing hearings of yesterday's witnesses despite his desire for postponement.

Julien Codman, prosecuting attorney, protested against a concession asked by Wheeler and said the dry members of the committee had taken up so much wet time in cross examination of dry witnesses.

Wheeler also demanded that the dries be permitted to make concluding arguments instead of the wets.

The committee took both arguments under advisement.

Oliver W. Stewart, of Chicago, president of the Flying Squadron Foundation of Indiana, pleaded with the committee to ignore any laws designed to weaken the Volstead act.

His organization was working for law enforcement, he said.

The first farmer to appear before the committee was S. L. Strivings of Castile, N. Y., representative of the New York State Grange.

"We are a farm folk, who stand for the best in rural life," Strivings said. "We voice our disapproval of any plan to modify this law in any way."

CHARGES AGAINST THE LABOR UNIONS

Washington, April 21.—Influence has been exerted upon labor leaders to prevent them from starting an organized movement for prohibition, it was charged before the senate prohibition committee today by Chas. Stelze, a member of the International Machinists' union.

His charge was contained in a series of allegations which included: The late Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, would not permit discussion of the prohibition question in conventions, because he was afraid of splitting the labor movement.

Unions which were directly involved in the manufacture and selling of liquor finally made it a political issue within the ranks of labor.

During the last few years "it has been almost impossible to have a labor leader of prominence, who valued his job, come out in favor of prohibition."

Unions taking action against use of liquor were severely penalized.

Stelze, an expert on social and economic statistics, denied labor was wholeheartedly behind the movement to end the dry law.

"During the last few years it has been almost impossible to have a labor leader of prominence who valued his job come out in favor of pro-

200 CASES OF CHINESE WHISKEY SEIZED AT PORTAL

Portal, N. D., April 21.—(UP)—Two hundred cases of Chinese whiskey valued at $37,000, was seized here late yesterday by customs officials on the American side of the border.

The liquor, falsely billed as sol, an oriental sauce, was traced from Hong Kong to Vancouver, thence to Portal. It was consigned to Chicago.

This shipment reveals a new channel for illicit trade as it was the first time prohibition authorities have known that whiskey was shipped across the Pacific.

The consignment contained more than 6,000 jugs in all and was valued at $5 to $8 each to the bootleg customer.

MUSSOLINI TO REVIVE BEAUTIES OF ANCIENT ROME

DEMOTION OF SLUMS AND REBUILDING OF THE ETERNAL CITY

HOPED TO RESTORE IN FIVE YEARS GLORY AND GRANDEUR OF CITY

By THOMAS B. MORGAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Rome, April 21.—Demotion of Rome slums and the rebuilding of the eternal city, so that "within five years it will be restored to the glory and grandeur of the founding of Rome."

Early this year Premier Mussolini ordered that the ancient architectural glories should be revived. Today at 9 A. M. the first stone was laid in the wall which will run along the new Barberini and half an hour later the first pick-axe blow bit into the slums, which have grown up around and long marred the beauty of the Theater Marcellus. At 10 A. M. the celebration of Colonial Day at the Campi Doglio began.

Today is really three days made into one, for, in addition to being Rome's birthday, it is Colonial Day and the Italian Labor Day. Mussolini chose to move Labor Day from May 1, the date observed internationally, to a day of purely nationalistic suggestions.

The holiday was complete. All trades, except those engaged in public utilities, stopped work. Stores and schools were closed and the celebration extended throughout Italy, with public buildings decked with the various municipal colors and the Italian flag. In Rome the historic Corso was a mass of flags.

A great labor parade took place here and it was produced on a smaller scale in other Italian cities.

NAVIGATION OPENS ON LAKE SUPERIOR

COASTAL VESSELS LEAVE THEIR BERTHS IN DULUTH HARBOR

Duluth, Minn., April 21.—Coastal navigation on Lake Superior is open today although interlake traffic will probably be impossible until May 1.

The freighter Winyah sailed from Grand Marais yesterday with capacity cargo along the north shore.

Many large ice fields are reported in the main body of the lake but coastal navigation will not be seriously hampered.

hibition no matter what his personal convictions might be," he said.

Father J. J. Curran, priest, of Wilkes Barre, Pa., said the following Catholic bishops were aligned with the bone dry movement:

"Bishop Lanevin, Pittsburgh; Bishop Carroll, Helen, Mont.; Bishop Lenahan, Great Falls, Mont.; Bishop O'Brien, Peterboro, Canada; the late Archbishop Ireland, St. Paul, Minn.; Archbishop Kane, Dubuque, Iowa; Archbishop Bruchesi, Montreal, Canada."

The social revolt of the younger generation was laid to "unregulated motion pictures" rather than prohibition by Rev. William Sharpe Chase, superintendent of the International Reform Federation of New York.

EXCESSIVE TIP TO TAXICAB MAN LED TO CAPTURE

DANIEL HESLY, FORMER STAR CHICAGO ATHLETE, IN TOILS OF LAW

FEDERAL INVESTIGATORS PICK UP TRAIL WHEN HE'S LAVISHT WITH MONEY

Chicago, April 21.—(UP)—An excessive tip to a taxicab chauffeur was blamed today by Daniel Hesly, 26, former star Chicago athlete, for his capture as the bandit who stole $37,000 from the mails at Indiana Harbor last Wednesday.

Federal investigators picked up the trail of Hesly when a taxi driver reported a man had given him a $10 bill for a $5.75 fare and had told him to keep the change.

From this report federal investigators followed Hesly until he was trapped in his room in a downtown hotel. He was carrying $12,000 of the loot in his pockets and most of the balance has been recovered. Hesly admitted the robbery.

Hesly stopped Frank Weston, driver of an Indiana Harbor mail truck, forced him to transfer mail sacks containing the currency to his own automobile and drove away with Watson, until his motor car broke down near Joliet, Ill. From there he made his escape by taxicab, but in paying the large tip, which he took from one of the mail sacks, his arrest was brought about.

Federal authorities today announced they had recovered $31,000 of the loot taken in the holdup and expected to recover the remainder of the loot in Indiana Harbor this afternoon.

WORLD WAR NOW BLAMED FOR LAWLESSNESS

THIS, RATHER THAN PROHIBITION, RESPONSIBLE, SAYS CHURCHMAN

P. A. MATTSON, MINNEAPOLIS, ADDRESSES AUGUSTANA SYNOD

Red Wing, April 21.—(UP)—The world war, rather than prohibition is responsible for the current outbreak of lawlessness in the United States, P. A. Mattson, Minneapolis, declared in his opening speech today before the 68th annual meeting of the Augustana Synod of the Lutheran church.

Mattson pleaded for retention of the 18th amendment and the Volstead law. Conditions resulting from the war are being wrongly cited as the outgrowth of prohibition, he told the churchmen.

The opening session of the meeting was given over to the president's address and business. Mattson was re-elected president and Rev. O. A. Arthur, Mankato, vice president. Other officers are to be elected this afternoon.

Laymen and ministers of the synod from all parts of Minnesota are attending the meeting which will continue all week.

VOLUNTEERS IN COMMITTEE FOR GOV. CHRISTIANSON

TO WORK FOR RENOMINATION OF EXECUTIVE, AS ANNOUNCED TODAY

J. F. JACOBSON OF MADISON, MINN., TO ACT AS CHAIRMAN

Madison, Minn., April 21.—Formation of a volunteer committee to work for renomination of Governor Theodore Christianson was announced today by J. F. Jacobson, who will act as chairman of the committee.

Jacobson was chairman of the Christianson primary campaign committee in 1924. Ludwig I. Rose, editor of the Montevideo News, will assist Jacobson as secretary of the volunteer committee in charge of headquarters at the St. Francis Hotel, St. Paul.

"Citizens who served on the original Christianson committee two years ago, when Theodore Christianson was one of six candidates at the primary, have been asked by men and women in all parts of the state to take the lead in organizing for the present campaign," Jacobson said. "Announcement of the governor's filing led us to work for this volunteer committee."

Among those who have volunteered to serve on the committee, according to Jacobson's announcement are Mrs. E. Everett Clark, St. Cloud; N. F. Field, Fergus Falls, and Frank G. Hall, Brainerd.

PEKING WITHOUT A GOVERNMENT, PREMIER FLEES

CONDITIONS TO BE FURTHER AGGRAVATED BY TROOP CLASHES

GENERAL ASPECT IS NOT ENCOURAGING, THINGS VERY CHAOTIC

By RANDALL GOULD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Peking, April 21.—Peking is without a government today following the flight of former Premier Tuan Chi Jui to Tien Tsin and there are indications that the situation will be further aggravated by a clash between the Manchurian troops of Marshal Chang Tso Lin and the army of Wu Pei Fu.

Foreign Minister Hu Wei Teh, who nominally is acting premier, informed the foreign diplomats today that he was concerned only with foreign affairs, thus leaving the government without a responsible head.

Removal of numerous troops from the capital has relieved the situation somewhat but the general aspect is chaotic.

WEISBORD IS A DISTURBING FACTOR IN STRIKE

PROSPECTS FOR SETTLEMENT HINGE ON HIS RESIGNING LEADERSHIP

A. F. OF L. TO HANDLE PASSAIC TEXTILE STRIKE IF WEISBORD WITHDRAWS

Passaic, N. J., April 21.—(UP)—Prospects for settlement of the New Jersey textile mills strike, now in its 13th week, appeared today to rest upon the willingness of Albert Weisbord to withdraw from his post of leadership.

Should Weisbord, the young Harvard graduate and alleged communist, who organized the strike, leave the United Front committee, it is understood that the strike will be put into the hands of the American Federation of Labor, which will unionize the mill employees and begin negotiations with the employers.

The United Front committee, although not indicating whether Weisbord will be eliminated, has announced that the strikers are eager to enter preliminary negotiations and that Henry T. Hunt, New York lawyer, has been engaged to represent them.

Governor Moore, as one of the members of a committee of four, will probably take part in any attempt at mediation.

Minnesota Farm Sales Duluth—Minnesota farm sales since January 1 have amounted to almost $4,000,000, according to a survey received by Whitney Wall, president of the Minnesota Realty association.

ANTI-KLAN FORCES TO RULE HERRIN NOW

TUESDAY'S PEACEFUL ELECTION FORECASTS SUCH RESULTS

KLAN TICKET GAINS ONLY ONE OF THE FOUR CITY ALDERMEN

Herrin, Ill., April 21.—(UP)—Anti-Klan forces will rule Herrin for the coming term, as Tuesday's peaceful election, peace brought about through presence of bayonet guardsmen at each polling place, gave the Klan ticket only one of the four city aldermen.

There was an attitude of indifference throughout the election and only a small vote was cast.

The one Klansman to succeed in the balloting was John Ford, former chief of police and a brother of Harlan Ford, one of the Klansmen killed in the bitter election fight a week ago. Ford has long been prominent in Klan affairs and defeated his anti-Klan opponent, Dr. Carl Barker, by 68 votes.

Interest in the safety of the election centered about the ward where Ford was elected, ward 4. This was at the Masonic hall, where a week ago the six men were killed during the balloting. There was no indication of trouble.

The imprisoned woman was not discovered until her husband returned from work.

DAUGHTER BORN TO DUCHESS OF YORK, ENGLAND

GLAD TIDINGS SPEED TO FAR CORNERS OF BRITISH EMPIRE

MAY SOME DAY SIT ON THRONE AS THE QUEEN OF ENGLAND

By C. T. HALLINAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, April 21.—The glad tidings that mother and child were doing well sped to the far corners of the British Empire today from the modest house at Mayfair, where the young Duchess of York this morning presented the royal family with a baby girl, who might some day sit on the throne in Buckingham Palace as Queen of England and Empress of India.

It is believed that the baby will be named Mary for the queen.

Congratulatory messages began pouring into the quiet house before dawn. The baby was born at 2:40 A. M. and the news was immediately telephoned to King George and Queen Mary.

The baby is the third royal grand child and the first grand-daughter, and she has the added distinction of being third in line for succession to the throne. If the Prince of Wales should die without issue, the new-comer's father, the Duke of York, would become king and his daughter would be formally recognized as heir presumptive until such a time as a boy should be born in the family.

The royal baby was saluted with 41 guns by the Hyde Park batteries at 10 A. M. and at noon an identical salute roared from the guns of the Tower of London. Princess Mary was the first royal visitor to be received by the little princess and she was soon followed by the lady mayoress of London. The Duke of York appeared briefly at a window with a smile for the crowd outside.

Only the queen, Princess Mary and the Duchess of York will take precedence over the newcomer until the Prince of Wales marries, he does.

BANK SHORTAGE OF $25,000 REVEALED IN LEMMON, S. D., STATE BANK

Minneapolis, April 21.—(UP)—Carl W. Hose, many years president of the Lemmon State Bank, Lemmon, S. D., was arrested here today on a warrant issued by Governor Theodore Christianson, Minnesota, at the request of Governor Carl Gunderson, South Dakota.

Hose disappeared from Lemmon last January and investigators are reported to have found a bank shortage which may reach $25,000. He has been living here since by dabbling in insurance and real estate.

Extradition will not be contested. Hose will probably start back to South Dakota for trial late this afternoon.

Northwest Fires Do Much Damage Minneapolis—Northwest fires yesterday caused property damage of more than $300,000 and threatened for a time to wipe out one town, Crane, Wis., lost eight buildings, the Bennett-Bailey lumber yards in Minneapolis suffered a $200,000 loss and Pig's Eye Island, St. Paul, was swept by flames. Three men suffered burns in the fires.

EFFORT MADE IN HOUSE TO HAVE ITS ACTION CHANGED

WISHED TO RESCIND REPORTING OUT BOTH HAUGEN AND TINCHER BILLS

TURBULENT EXECUTIVE SESSION OF THE COMMITTEE WAS HELD

Washington, April 21.—An effort to have the house agricultural committee rescind its action of yesterday in deciding to report out both the Haugen and the Tinchier farm relief bills, was made today at a turbulent executive session of the committee.

Discussion of the motion became so heated at one point it was reported that one member of the committee threatened to resign unless the "quibbling" was all stopped.

No action was taken on the motion, and several members predicted that it would be defeated if a vote were forced. The committee continued consideration of both bills and is expected to submit them to the house Friday.

SAYS ROBBING DEBS OF CITIZENSHIP IS REALLY DISGRACE

Washington, April 21.—(UP)—Robbing Eugene Debs of his rights and privileges of citizenship was termed a disgrace by Rep. Victor L. Berger, socialist, Wisconsin, in a speech in the house today.

"Debs," he said, "served a sentence in prison because he was opposed to our entrance into the world war. That our participation in the war was a criminal error is generally admitted by all thinking people today."

SIX MEN STILL ENTOMBED IN MOUNTAIN TUNNEL

Quincy, Cal., April 21.—(UP)—One body was taken from the Bucks mountain tunnel of the Feather River Powder Company today.

Six men were entombed in the tunnel Saturday in a cave-in. Recovery of the body today leaves the fate of four men uncertain. One miner, alive, was removed late Tuesday. Hospital authorities say the miner removed yesterday has a chance for recovery.

Quincy, Cal., April 21.—Death today gained the upper hand in the grim endeavor to rescue six men imprisoned in a landslide in the Feather River Power Company's tunnel at Bucks mountain.

With one miner rescued alive and another taken out dead, the workers reported they had sighted bodies of two more men, apparently dead.

CITY ENGINEER OF DULUTH IS IN A RUCTION

Duluth, Minn., April 21.—(UP)—W. H. Tischer, commissioner of public works, today demanded the resignation of John Wilson, city engineer.

The break between the two officials grew out of an article which appeared recently in a bi-weekly newspaper charging the head of the public works department with graft and conspiracy.

Tischer demanded Wilson's resignation when the city engineer refused to sign an affidavit to be used as an answer to the charges.

RAISING FOXES

Not Expensive to Prepare Pens and Kennels for the Animals

Fred Cleary, of Cleary Bros. Fox Farms, Seattle, considered an authority on foxes, states that many people are under the wrong impression if they believe that it is expensive to prepare pens and kennels for either Alaskan, blue, or silver foxes. For the benefit of those interested in fox raising and learning the rough outline of erecting a pen, and a kennel, suitable for one pair of either silvers or blues, Mr. Cleary makes the following explanation:

"A fox pen may be located either on a large farm or on a city lot. I think the fox does as well in the city as elsewhere, as he quickly becomes accustomed to anything in the way of a noise or people. To my knowledge, one of the best litters came to A. R. Cain, located in Wenatchee, Wash., within six blocks of the center of the city—from two pairs he received 11 and 13 pups, respectively—a small fortune for one season from such an investment.

"A pen should be much narrower than it is in length, for the fox will play and out up capers when you are trying to catch him for any particular reason, and it makes him harder to catch if the pen is square, so we build all pens, 12 feet wide, and 46 feet long, and we have ample acreage so if we thought it best we could use acres for a pen."

TELLS OF HIS SOUTHERN TRIP

Walter H. Cobban and Wife Motored to the Gulf Coast Cities

TRIBUTE TO MINNESOTA ROADS
Carl Zapffe Reports on His Attendance at Grand Forks Convention

Rotary visitors at the luncheon club Tuesday were Gene Barrows, Minneapolis; Walter Marl Murphy, county highway engineer of Brainerd; Fred Boyer, Rotarian of Terre Haute, Ind.; Charles Russell, Rotarian of Superior, Wis., and his son, Frank Russell, also of Superior.

Vice President Wm. E. Haydon presided and called attention to the importance of next meeting when the board of directors are to be elected.

Walter H. Cobban told of his trip down south. He and Mrs. Cobban traveled by automobile. From the Twin Cities they went to Waukegan, Ill., thence to Cairo, on to Missouri, Arkansas, Memphis, Tenn., Mississippi, Gulfport and at length to Biloxi, where they wintered. Driving a car, of course Mr. Cobban had his attention called to the roads he traversed.

Gravel roads of Wisconsin are not as well maintained or as plainly marked as those of Minnesota. Signs are small and hard to read quickly. Cement highways in the south are good with the exception of the "gaps" at villages. There one finds no cement, usually rough road. In Missouri the roads are good and markers good. Arkansas has no road markings of state control, for it has no highway commission like Minnesota.

In Mississippi he drove on 400 miles of good trunk road. There are absolutely no road markings in evidence. He stopped over at Rotary towns so as to preserve his attendance record and was greeted with courtesy and deep consideration.

Attractive towns are growing up on the gulf coast. He described the work of the coast guard, its vigilance in detecting and capturing rum runners, the cargoes destroyed, etc. He paid a visit to Galveston and Corpus Christi. The only daily on the gulf coast is published at Biloxi and is the Herald. The Cobbans took the Brainerd Dispatch, received their paper regularly and in some instances found that the United Press service of the Brainerd paper occasionally scooped the Chicago Tribune and was far ahead of the gulf coast service.

Oaks form fine groves and the southerners do everything to preserve them, routing their sidewalks and highways around the trees.

The climate in the south is like the Indian summer we didn't get in Brainerd last year, but should have received. New Orleans was visited by the Cobbans, also Mobile, Alabama. In closing, Mr. Cobban paid a tribute to Minnesota highways and markers and said a long tour as he had made will fill one with thanksgiving and appreciation of the good roads blessings we have in this state. The southerners are courteous, personified and their kindness, hospitality and generosity were highly lauded by Mr. Cobban.

Carl Zapffe, one of the Brainerd club attendants at the district convention at Grand Forks, read the paper he presented at the round table conference on classification. He said the convention as a whole was handled efficiently and delightfully. It functioned well in every department. An innovation there introduced will no doubt be made permanent. The delegation of each club was divided and assigned to various sections. For instance Mr. Zapffe was assigned to classification. A. G. Tremmald and William Spencer to community service, Mons Mahlum to business methods. There were 60 at the classification meeting.

On motion, carried, Mons Mahlum will make his report at the next meeting of Rotary.

William V. Turcotte spoke on the Denver national meeting, and said he hoped to recruit a party of four to make the trip.

Woolen Materials for New Garments

Chic Frocks and Wraps Are Built of Dainty Lightweight Weaves.

When spring comes and all things are new, women begin the ever-diverting search for fresh inspiration in dress. It is not always simple to discover novelty, nor is the response to one's efforts always immediate. This is particularly evident when a radical change in styles is just finding adjustment.

Many of the most successful styles of the present season, writes a fashion authority in the New York Times, are adaptations of extremes brought out previously. There is little that is startlingly different in line, but colors and materials are new.

Two years ago women were saying that they could not find a woolen dress in New York, meaning, of course, one of authoritative style. The craze for thin fabrics, crepes, voiles and so on was at its height. Paris was seeking to achieve the supple and lithe silhouette with a certain fragile daintiness, and America followed blindly.

Gradually American appreciation of the fitness of things called for wool for autumn, winter and spring and simultaneously the French couturiers swung over to the same conviction in creating gowns, suits and wraps for out-of-doors. There is always a certain demand for English materials for sports wear, travel and general utility, but it is too limited and individual to have any bearing upon the general trend of fashions. A compromise between these and the flimsy stuffs was sought, and this season it is to be found in the great variety of beautiful products of the looms.

Many Costumes Offered.

Parisian fashion artists have never before offered so many costumes for the street, for sports and informal wear, coats, capes and odd garments made of woolen or part woolen materials. Quantities of frocks and wraps are built of the newest weaves, which are much lighter in weight than heretofore, but nevertheless wool. Tweed is tremendously popular for suits and top coats and for separate skirts. Nothing is more satisfying for sports clothes. Molyneux and Redfern are doing some stunning things in tweed, which is shown this season in entirely new surfaces, particularly in color. These are quite different from the natural and neutral shades in the wool with which we have long been familiar.

Lanvin, stepping wide of her favorite territory, picture costumes, has conceived a striking ensemble for early spring that will find many friends among the elite on this side of the water. The material is tweed in one of the latest patterns, a diagonal stripe in brown and white zigzag lines. It has a plain wrap-around skirt and full, straight coat, seven-eighths length. Navy blue velvet is used for the jumper and for three large buttons that trim one side of the skirt. Bands of skunk fur trim the collar and cuffs.

Another decorative pattern in tweed has a geometric background, with stripes wide apart. Lanvin shows it in a swaggy little two-piece suit. The double-breasted hip length jacket, made of this, is to be worn with a skirt of finely plaited black wool rep.

Reps in many degrees of weight, size of rib, color and quality, brought out last season and presented in delightful variants by American manufacturers, are much liked by French designers. One model delightfully adapted to early spring is a one-piece frock of black rep. It has the general character of the coat-dress, so popular two seasons ago and here and there of a detail to bring it up to the minute. From one shoulder to the hem this particular design fastens in a straight line, broken only at one point below the waist by a battlement fastening, below which the skirt flares at one side. A scarf is draped around the neck to form the collar. It is caught on one shoulder with a gilded flower. Narrow gilt braid is used to finish the edge of the entire frock.

This use of braid in metal, colored silk or wool is fashionable. It gives a smart finish to any of these simply tailored woolen or worsted frocks. A particularly popular finish is a narrow strip of gilt or silver leather, added in the manner of braid on collar and cuffs, as a belt or to join and outline any of the new spring frocks and informal coats.

Kasha Is Liked.

Another material established in past seasons is kasha. It improves on acquaintance, because of the fine texture of the latest weaves. In some of the best styles shown from both French and American designers kasha is combined with another material. Coats for motoring and general sports wear are made of kasha, self-lined.

Covert, twill and kasha jersey are among the important weaves from domestic looms, also a few of the "English" mixtures. These are the fabrics best liked for frocks and suits. For capes, top coats and cape coats, except in models for evening and more elaborate dress, there are cashmere and homespun in square patterns, rough woolens, "nubbed" tweeds, stripes, plaits and checks.

What is known as the occasional garment is shown in many interesting models. Much that is chic and fascinating is included in the little dress described as the jumper frock. This phase of the fashionable costume is not disdained by the most illustrious among the couturiers. They have entertained themselves by designing many that are original and artistic. One done by Paul Poiret has made a decided "hit" on the Riviera. It is a naive affair of blue kasha toile with a finely plaited skirt and a slip-on jumper that is severely plain and high at the neck, with long sleeves. It is finished with clusters of fine tucks on the collar, cuffs, shoulders and around the bottom.

Another French creator has made a stunning little smoking jacket of white suede. It meets high at the neck, and has no fastening down the front except three large buttons below the waist. It is cut straight in line, with three pockets, and is worn with a short flaring skirt of white flannel. A narrow belt of colored suede, attached at each side of the coat, buckles in the center of the back. Lanvin goes in for these odd jumpers and unusual combinations. Her favorite is the sleeveless jumper, with kilt skirt and large silk tie.

One of the New Materials.

Of the new materials, frisca is most prominent. Some of the most stylish frocks and ensembles worn at the southern resorts are made of this material. A charming model that will have an appeal for summer in the country is a cape costume of frisca. The simple frock has a two-tiered skirt, simple, untripped blouse with bateau neck, and a three-quarter circular cape. Black velvet ribbon forms the belt and ties the cape at the throat. This is an exception in the season's color catalogue, since white is considered less fashionable than the pastel shades, for elaborate dress, and the richer tones, for tailored clothes.

The novelty in wool patterns is the check. The traditional check in black and white is much used and is always smart. But the newest checks are small and irregular, producing an effect of subtlety in their softly blended colors. Red, brown and ivory are woven together in equal spaces. In one, quite different, blege, blue and scarlet are spaced to produce oblong bars, the blue appearing to form a stripe. A small geometric pattern woven in gray and black is original and particularly attractive.

In recent exhibitions of American made silks the most admired of all the new patterns were the small polka dots. Of these the choicest were in black and white. All of this proves the enduring popularity of black and white. One of the most exclusive shops in New York is showing a great deal of blue.

MOVE MADE FOR FARM RELIEF

THAT the western situation is developing somewhat out of hand of the Republican leaders was emphasized recently when five members of the Republican House delegation from Minnesota, all potential factors in the coming campaign, served notice on Speaker Longworth, Floor Leader John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, and Chairman Snell, of the House rules committee, that they "were tired of fooling." The whole disturbance revolved about extending relief to the farmers.

President Coolidge, in the face of pressure, finds that farm aid is needed. There is every indication now, at the White House, that the government will meet the wishes of the farmers. The administration, however, is set against any price-fixing proposal. It favors creation of a federal farm board with an appropriation at disposal.

The administration will stand by its decision to aid the agricultural interests of the country, it was made plain by the White House spokesman. This does not mean, it was indicated, that President Coolidge has changed his mind. It means he has decided that the pressure from the west is entitled to consideration, and that as far as possible the government will meet the wishes of the farmers.

And this "pressure" came from the amalgamation of the five Republican congressmen from Minnesota, Representatives Andresen, Clague, Furlough, Goodwin and Knutson. They just plainly told the leaders in the House that they were "sick and tired of being kidded." In other words, they wanted something done to meet present needs of the farmer.

This uproar was only an indication of how the straws are blowing. Yet it became necessary almost immediately to placate this revolution, with the result that the leaders readily agreed that they would do all they could to get the agricultural legislation given preference.

The administration will back to the limit the creation of a federal farm board which will do business with the cooperative organizations, and, as a result, furnish them with the money that is needed to carry out their programs. Should it be necessary, the government will place at the disposal of the farm board $100,000,000, or five times that amount, and take its chances on losing money.

What is really contemplated, is the recreation of the War Finance Corporation, under a different name, to take care of the wants of the farmers.

OUR FIRE LOSSES

OUR fire losses throughout the nation amount to more than half a billion dollars annually, just $16.97 a second, every day and night. An average of 15,000 lives lost every year. This is our economic waste through fires.

In 1903 the fire-loss was $145,302,155. In 1913 it was $203,763,550. In 1923, the last year for which complete authentic figures are available, it was $535,372,782. It has increased 269 per cent in 20 years.

According to the same high authority, the annual fire-loss in American dwellings alone averages $65,000,000. This represents 135,035 fires; which means that 369 fires occur in homes every 24 hours. One occurs every four minutes, day and night, somewhere in the United States. There is a farm building fire every seven minutes.

The Literary Digest recently quoted a statement that "the wastage by fire for the two years, 1922 and 1923, would more than meet the ordinary expenditures of the government for any year before the war and would more than cover half the budget for 1925."

This tremendous fire-loss is a national waste. A national waste is a national problem.

A SPLENDID MOVEMENT

THE tourist trade, a great resource of Brainerd, manifests itself in several ways. The first great movement followed the establishment of the tourist park. There was a constant procession of them, staying a day or so, then passing on and making way for those who followed in their wake. This produced a constant succession of customers who bought supplies here and contributed to the prosperity of Brainerd.

The next development came with the growth of tourist resorts and hotels, modest as well as pretentious ones. The visitors traveled through Brainerd or made short stops here on their way to their vacation grounds.

The next development and one which augurs well for the future, is the growth of cottages built or rented by tourists. This gives the tourist wave the most permanency and establishes whole colonies at nearby lakes who use Brainerd as their trading center. Many new cottages will be built this season on Gull, Round, and other lakes in the Brainerd region. These prospective cottagers buy their lumber material, hardware, cement and other supplies in Brainerd, give employment to Brainerd or nearby lakes labor. Their residence of four or more months at the lakes means much to Brainerd and they are welcomed with open arms.

SPRING IS HERE

AFTER several false starts, the fair young lady, Miss Spring, has arrived in town. Nobody had any doubt about it last night when the faithful old government thermometer registered 76 degrees above zero at 6 p. m.

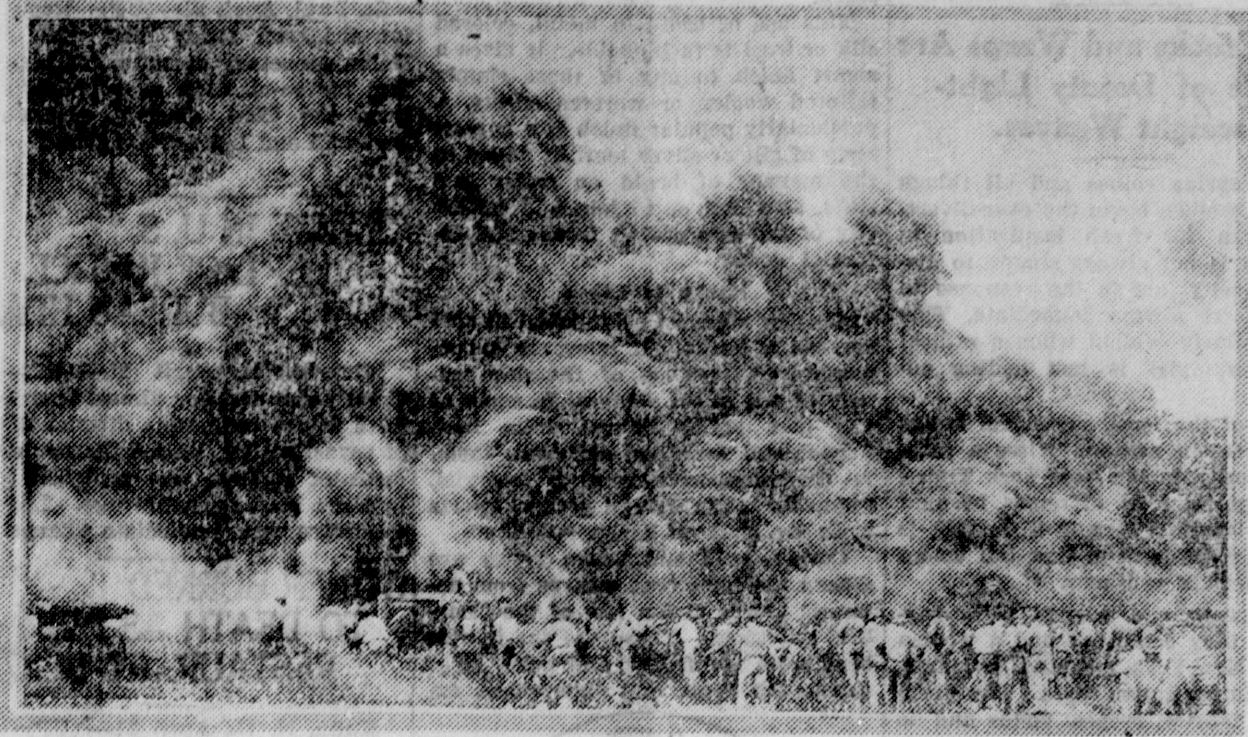

Robins are sitting on backyard fences, geese are flying high, the Brainerd municipal street sprinkler started sprinkling this morning, the ice man is receiving frantic calls to deliver his product and save the backsteps milk from a premature death by souring. Storm windows, in favor one day, had to be unceremoniously removed last night and Pa worked late catching up with the vagaries of the temperature.

Tourists are bobbing up in town and the week end will find many more motoring to Brainerd, gateway to the Ten Thousand Lakes.

NORTHWESTERN university co-eds are wearing suspenders. This also leads to the dread supposition that something is attached to the suspenders.

AFTER 167 days under ice, longest period on record at Little Falls, the Mississippi opened on April 13th.

Workmen with tractors are making a ditch around the tank to prevent the spread of the blazing oil. Crude oil, valued at $2,000,000, was stored on the tank farm. A bolt of lightning started the blaze.

"SOME WILD NOTIONS I HAVE KNOWN"

By the REV. ROY L. SMITH, D. D.
Pastor Simpson M. E. Church, Minneapolis

"CHARITY COVERS A MULTITUDE OF SINS"

Charity never covers any meanness up—it only blinds us for a time so that we cannot see accurately.

Charity is a moral anesthetic that some men give themselves for the purpose of deadening their consciences on the subject of injustices, wrongs or dishonorable dealings.

The worst fooled man in all the world is the man who fools himself. He has so much confidence in the man who fooled him. The man who fools himself into thinking that charity atones for injustice has fooled no one but himself.

Charity, to some men, is an immunity bath they administer to themselves to prevent their own rottenness from becoming intolerable.

Charity will never save the nation whose workers are in revolt against wrong or whose social fabric is built upon exploitation of any group.

You cannot build a sky-scraper nation on a bungalow foundation. Giving charity instead of justice is like trying to balance a pyramid on its apex.

Charity never fools the Almighty. Alms given to the poor, or liberal subscriptions to colleges, libraries and churches never provide passports to Heaven. Men may judge by appearances, but God looks on the heart.

Charity may keep sin in the background but no sin has ever yet stayed covered. Banquo's Ghost steals in upon Macbeth. Samuel always comes to David, sooner or later, saying, "Thou Art the Man." Samson, sooner or later, finds that his strength is departed from him when the Philistines attack him.

Sin is as patient as destiny. It can wait for its wages until the account is long overdue. But when it collects, the payment is always demanded to the last farthing, the ultimate groan, the uttermost woe.

Charity can keep us silent about sin, but the sin goes on working its hideous havoc regardless of charity.

TWICE AROUSED IRE OF GREAT HUMORIST

Writer Tells of Boyish Mix-ups With Twain.

Katy Leary's "A Lifetime With Mark Twain, Memories," written from her lips by Mary Lawton, gives an intimate view of one of the most picturesque personalities that ever adorned this planet, and even a stranger would feel after reading it that he had lived in this household, and knew closely every member of the family. The thing is amazingly well done. Was there ever a more lovable man?

And yet he twice tried to have me arrested, and once set a price on my head, the only time I received that particular distinction. When I was a boy in Hartford, on every Fourth of July I rose at midnight and, together with others, kept up an infernal racket till nine in the evening, 21 consecutive hours of undiluted bliss. William Lyon Phelps relates, in Scribner's Magazine.

At about 3 a. m. on one of these holidays, we were howling and yelling and shooting explosives near Mark Twain's house, when suddenly a policeman appeared on the scene. The cry "Cheese it, the cop!" rang out against the starry sky. We dodged and ran; the minion of the law caught only one of us, to whom he explained that Mark Twain had telephoned—I know now with what lyrical profanity—to have us all arrested. But the merciful Irish policeman let his prisoner go, on the latter's promise to be responsible for no more noise in that vicinity.

The other occasion was more serious. When I was twelve years old, I owned a double-barrel muzzle-loading shotgun, with which I used to haunt the precincts of Hog river. One day—oh, ecstasy—I saw a flock of white ducks, which I thought were wild, whereas only the owner of them turned out to be. I blazed away with both barrels and five of them swam no more.

At that moment of硝硝ical delight, as I was about to gather the trophies of the chase, a person appeared who informed me these were tame prize ducks, the property of Mark Twain, and that I had better run for my life. After a moment's bewildered discomfiture, I thought his advice sound; I fled.

Next day the Hartford papers contained a paragraph by Mark Twain, announcing a substantial money reward for the apprehension of the miscreant who had slaughtered his valuable pet ducks. Of course I could have claimed the reward, but I didn't. For three months I never went near his house or the river, though my special pal, now Hon. Frank W. Hubbard of Detroit, lived in that immediate neighborhood.

This is the only time a price was set on my head, and I was worth more to the authorities than I have ever been since.

Carpet of Fabulous Value

Valued at $600,000 a famous Persian carpet recently arrived at Paris for exhibition in the Louvre. It is known to collectors as a "hunting carpet," and was intended to be carried by slaves to be spread as a resting place for the shah. Lions, tigers, panthers, and stags alternate with flowers of exquisite shades of cream and rose. France, if the carpet remains, will be liable to $100,000 customs duty. Its owner has already refused an American offer of $1,000,000 for the carpet. It was formerly part of the Austrian imperial collection, and was sold with the consent of the reparations commission. According to tradition the carpet was given to the Austrian Emperor Leopold in 1698 by Peter the Great of Russia.

Says Whales Do Have Legs

Whale legs? Yes, they're like snail's wings, say the skeptics. But it's a fact. Whales do have legs, as was definitely established by Charles Miller, a professional whaler.

Miller recently obtained an embryo whale two inches long when cutting up a 60-ton female whale killed off Bay View, Wash. It had perfectly developed legs. Whales are mammals, and even full-grown whales have atrophied legs. Through thousands of years of evolution the flukes gradually have dwindled until now they can be seen only on a grown whale when it is dissected.

Using Dog Sense

Lady Cynthia Mosley, the British socialist—she is a daughter of the late Marquis Curzon and a granddaughter of the late Levi Z. Leiter of Chicago—said in New York the other day:

"When a foreign-born citizen points out his new country's faults the native-born citizen of that country always tells him to go back home where he came from."

"I think that is rather cruel. It reminds me of an anecdote."

"Alas," said a sad old man. "I have only one friend in the world—my dog."

"Then," said a second old man, "why don't you get another dog?"

Bushranger Noted for His Humorous Cruelty

Although the methods of the Australian bushranger were much the same as those of our Western road agent, his technical terminology was different in some respects. What we call a holdup, he referred to as a stick-up. And he demanded submission in different words. Instead of "Hands up!" he would command, "Ball up!" thus adding insult to injury, for a ball is a contrivance somewhat on the principle of the stocks, in which a cow's head is fixed while she is being milked.

The bushranger was sometimes provoking in more ways than this. Morgan, the most famous of them all, became particularly so toward the end of his career. He held up a wool shed at shearing time and called upon the overseer, against whom he bore a grudge, to come out and kneel down to be shot. The man's wife rushed out and flung herself down in front of her husband, imploring Morgan to shoot her instead. The bushranger relented enough to tell the man to "clear out." But then he amused himself by forcing the owner to make out checks for all the shearers and finally a big one for himself, thus making himself popular with the shearers and vexatious to their employer.

One scorching day he fell in with the manager of a run. "By Jove!" exclaimed the indiscreet manager as they rode through the brush together, "where did you get that horse? He bears my brand."

"Just tumble off your own nag," retorted Morgan, "or I'll put daylight through you."

Looking into the muzzle of a gun, the manager dismounted.

"Now, pull your clothes off—every stitch."

And the manager had to walk the nine miles home naked under a blistering sun.

His final appearance was in Victoria, where he held up a station, assembled all the people in one room, and made the daughters of the house play the piano all night. In the morning, as he was walking, shielded from attack, as he believed, by the presence of the owner of the run on one side and a neighbor on the other, and armed as usual with two revolvers, a station hand snatched up a gun and shot him through the back at a distance of 40 paces.—John L. Considine in Adventure Magazine.

The Anecdote

Andrew Beckett, colored messenger for a Washington department store, was held up recently by three men who wanted to rob him of the $8,000 payroll he was carrying. He snatched the revolver from one of the robbers and knocked him out with it. Then he fired at the other two and wounded the bigger of them. The third man made off, and the payroll was safe.

The brave messenger said to a reporter that night:

"Colored people, you see, aren't all cowards, though you'd think they were from the anecdotes you hear about them. I heard an anecdote the other day about a colored soldier in the World war that got my goat. Well, maybe what I've done will help to counteract such anecdotes as that."

"It was an anecdote about a colored man whose colonel held him up as he was retreating, lickity-split, from the Helmies."

"Wash," the colonel yelled, 'are you running away?'

"No, kunnel," panted Wash. 'Ah sutny ain't, but Ah's just passed a lot o' colored men wot is.'"

Youth's Vaulting Ambition

"I got $500 and I want to learn to be a detective," a youth frankly stated at the information desk at police headquarters. "Where do I go to learn about it?"

He misinterpreted the look of amazement that overspread the face of the person with whom he was talking. "Oh, I can get more if it takes more," he continued.

On inquiry it was learned that the youth came here three years ago from Germany and has not yet been naturalized.

"I got my first papers out," he said, "and I will get the others in two years. What I want to do is to get started now so when I get naturalized I can begin detecting at once."

The youth left police headquarters disillusioned but still having his money.—Indianapolis News.

Simple Life for Afghans

The Afghan subjects of Amanullah Khan may be entering willy-nilly on a period of plain living and high thinking, says the Christian Science Monitor. The ameer's new tariff imports free only the Koran, religious books, rifles and cartridges, possibly with the view that all may be regarded as powers for peace.

Foreign cheese, milk and butter pay a tax of 200 per cent as luxuries, while such unutterable vanities of dress as hats, collars and silk stockings likewise are frowned on in the interests of the treasury.

Old Railroad Quits

With solemn ceremonies the first steam railroad in Germany—a five-mile line connecting Nuremberg and Furth, in Bavaria—has been junked, thus ending an existence that began 90 years ago, in 1835. The last day of the old railroad's life witnessed the slow passage over the tracks of a strange train made up of aged passenger and freight cars, drawn by the first German locomotive, the "Barbaria." At the end of the line they were consigned to their purchaser, the junk man.

Mysteries Found in Dead Letter Office

No place in the world, perhaps, holds as many unsolved mysteries in as many odd forms as does Uncle Sam's dead letter office in Washington, says Popular Science Monthly.

Not only is this mail morgue the final resting place for letters and parcels that go astray because of faulty addresses, but it is also the repository for contraband goods, such as firearms, alcohol and narcotics, as well as deadly bombs and infernal machines. There an ordinary package has been found to conceal enough dynamite to wreck a building. There, too, innocent-looking parcels have given up everything from a live snake or a poisonous tarantula to a flock of fleas.

More than 60,000 carelessly addressed letters arrive every day in this government morgue, which received 21,000,000 letters and 803,000 parcels last year. In this number are 100,000 letters which have been mailed in entirely blank envelopes, many containing large sums of money.

The cash found in misdirected mail amounts to about $55,000 annually.

Scarcity of Material Makes "Briars" Costly

It is said that French soil no longer yields the precious briar bush. Spain has but little, Italy has about run dry, and that it is in Corsica that the finest specimens are found. It is the root of the shrub that matters. In North Africa the light and sandy soil renders the texture of the woody root rather porous, and this "briar" is used for cheaper grades of pipe.

In Corsica the roots have a tough fight to gain hold in the rocky soil. A Corsican briar root may weigh 15 or 25 pounds when it is brought rough to the factory, but when cut down this will give no more than a dozen blocks for use. From these emerge, perhaps, two really tip-top, flawless "best English briars." And as such a pipe beauty can be fashioned only from root which is in the region of a hundred years' growth, it is not to be wondered that a perfect briar pipe is costly.—Manchester Guardian.

Take Care of Your Car — Use POLARINE

One of the reasons why you keep your car in a garage is to protect the body from the elements.

The engine of an automobile is far more important than the body. Yet the engine is often exposed, without protection, to ruinous grinding friction.

The man who allows this to happen, often fails to realize that the oil he uses cannot protect his engine adequately. He does not appreciate that he is to blame for the big repair bills that naturally follow.

The fast moving metal surfaces of the engine must have the protection of a thin film of oil. This film of oil is to the engine what a garage is to the body of a car.

An inferior oil or an oil not adapted to the engine cannot maintain this protective film. It breaks under the strain of heat and friction. When the oil film breaks, the fast moving surfaces are no longer protected. Metal chafes against metal and the vital parts of the engine are ruined. A poor oil is like a garage without a roof.

Polarine—made in seven grades—one of which, adapted to your individual needs—will provide the proper protection for your engine. Polarine is one of the major products of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)—perfected after years of scientific research. It maintains its protective film of oil under any and all conditions.

That is the reason Polarine is the perfect motor oil. When you lubricate your car with it you are giving the engine the protection it deserves.

Consult chart at any Standard Oil Service Station, or Authorized Garage. Drain your crankcase, thoroughly cleanse your motor with Polarine Flushing Oil, and refill with the correct grade of Polarine. That's constructive economy.

$14 <sup>98</sup>/<sub>100</sub>, as advertised

"How do you spell 'financially'?" asked a college student of his room-mate.

"F-i-n-a-n-c-i-a-l-l-y," said the room-mate, spelling out the word slowly. As an afterthought, he added: "And 'embarrassed' has two r's and two s's."

How often have you said to a salesman, "That's more than I care to pay"? If you had known the price in advance, you would have been spared this little embarrassment. That's one of the great services rendered by newspaper advertising.

By reading the advertisements before going to the stores, you know what you will have to pay for an article. You need not reveal your financial status to a salesman. You perhaps do not like to ask the price of goods anyhow. If the merchant has told you the price in his advertisement, you do not have to ask.

Any way you figure it out, it pays you to read the advertisements. Regularly! The one advertisement you skip may contain just the news you would have welcomed. Read all the advertisements you can. Keep informed.

The intelligent way to shop is to read the advertisements and then go to the stores that offer the best values. Make notes beforehand of the articles that interest you. That's the way to get the most for your money. That's the way to save time.

When you know the price in advance, you can ask to be shown the goods "as advertised"

STANDING IN MAJOR LEAGUES PRESENTS PROBLEM

PITTSBURGH PIRATES AND THE PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS REVERSAL OF FORM

McKECHNIE AND CONNIE MACK WOULD PROBABLY REPLY, "GIVE US TIME"

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, April 21.—After one week of surprising baseball, the standing in the major leagues presents a problem of what has happened to the world's champion Pittsburgh Pirates and the Philadelphia Athletics.

In response to an inquiry, Bill McKechnie and Connie Mack probably would reply: "Nothing. Just give us time."

With the exception of the Pirates the National league teams followed form in getting away for what has early symptoms of being the tightest race in years.

The Giants, leading the league again, have been fortunate in getting less competition than western clubs. McGraw's team feasted on Brooklyn and Boston, while the Pirates have been forced to meet the stiff competition of the strong western clubs.

There does not seem to be anything wrong with the Pittsburgh team and it will be recalled that it is not a quick moving club like the Giants.

The Cincinnati Reds, getting the finest of pitching, loom now as more of a threat than they were considered in the pre-season dope and the St. Louis Cardinals are living up to expectations. Mid-summer when the Cardinals will have to play at home will put them to their biggest test.

With the Athletics in seventh place and the Browns in the hole, the American league is all turned around.

The Yankees, the Tigers and the Indians in a tie for first place, present an unusual situation. The Yankees and Tigers look to be contenders but the Indians are setting a pace that they can hardly expect to maintain. Ty Cobb seems to have corrected an infield weakness that kept the club out of the running for several seasons and if the pitchers held up the club will have to be figured.

The Yankees, with the greatest bunch of hitters that could be desired, have turned from a possibility into the favorite for the pennant, and the Washington Senators have become a very serious doubt.

With the exception of the Yankees, however, the pre-season betting odds will not have to be changed radically, as six or seven games are not enough to get a proper estimate of what a club will be able to do over a long stretch of 154 games.

Watching the Scoreboard

Yesterday's Hero—Red Lucas, Cincinnati pitcher, dropped the champion Pirates with four hits and won his second start of the season, 5 to 2.

Led by the big stick of Babe Ruth, the Yankees lambasted Walter Johnson and beat the Senators 18 to 5.

Van Gilder went wild in the fifth inning and forced in the run that gave the Tigers a 5 to 4 victory over the Browns.

Lefty Cooper held the Cardinals to five hits and the Cubs won 7 to 0.

The Indians won their third game of the series against the White Sox 9 to 5.

An error by Myers in the seventh inning with the bases loaded which permitted three runs to cross the plate, gave Minneapolis a 9 to 6 victory over the Mudhens. Up to this inning the Hens had been leading 6 to 1.

Getting away to an early start by scoring five runs in the first inning the Colonels took the final game of the series from Kansas City, 6 to 4.

Rallying in the fifth inning enabled the Saints to come from behind twice to defeat the Senators 8 to 7.

Taking advantage of 12 bases on balls, 12 hits, 5 errors and a lot of poor baseball, the Indians again defeated the Brewers, but this time made it good by scoring 19 runs to Milwaukee's 5.

SPRING EXHIBITION GAMES

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, April 21.—Several major league managers are entertaining doubts about the benefit of spring exhibition games between major league clubs.

From a business point of view, inter-league exhibition games are practical because a large part of the heavy expenses of a training camp can be defrayed by the gate money from the exhibition games but the psychological effect upon the players may cost just as much in actual money.

Players do not draw salary for playing in these exhibition games and they do not care to risk salary arms, legs or backs in unnecessary chances on uncertain playing fields. Many of them say the exhibition games amount to nothing and they don't care about results though no ball player likes to lose.

Take the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Robins for an example. When they started their spring series they were not taken too seriously as pennant possibilities but the Robins, with a fine looking pitching staff, entertained first division hopes.

The Yankees got away to a flying start and murdered the best pitching Brooklyn had for fourteen consecutive victories. The Yanks got the winning habit, gained faith in themselves and returned to New York with a club that looks like a pennant possibility. The Robins fell into a losing habit, lost heart, and there is no way to tell what effect it will have upon them if they don't get a good start in championship competition.

That spring series between the two clubs may turn out to have been the makings of the Yankees and it might be that it will be the ruination of the Robins.

Bucky Harris, the shrewd young manager of the Washington Senators, was discussing the benefits of exhibition games one night in his hotel in Tampa.

"Personally," he said, "I don't attach too much importance to exhibition games because they are staged primarily for the purpose of getting practice. When I first started to manage this club I wanted to win every game but I've grown out of a lot of that college stuff now. But as a manager of a club and not as one of the players I realize that the games are very important for the moral effect upon the club as a whole. It is necessary to cultivate the winning habit and when the players start to losing faith in themselves, it is hard to recover."

"For that reason I felt fortunate in being able to arrange several of these exhibition tours with the New York Giants because they gave us real competition. It isn't well to knock over a bunch of set-ups because the players know that it means nothing but to beat a good club means everything. I didn't want to win every game from the Giants, because I know that we couldn't do it but I did want the boys to make a good showing and they have done it so far. We don't crow when we beat the Giants and we don't cry when they down us."

Some of the lower ranking major league clubs are rushed along in their training primarily for the purpose of beating opposition in the spring games and drawing good gate money. One National league team is said to have made all its training expenses for two seasons by pointing for the exhibition games even if it did injure the condition of the team for the championship race.

One or two of the major league clubs refused this spring to book inter-league exhibition games and confined their training to games with minor league clubs. The class of the minor league teams is improving so much that some of the exhibitions between a major league and a minor league team drew as much money at the gate as two major league clubs and the split was even better in proportion.

The spring exhibition games have become so thoroughly established that some minor abuses already have been noticed and it is understood that Commissioner Landis will ask the club owners this winter to give him control over these games.

ARTERY BURST IN THE BRAIN OF CLEVER SENCIO

HEART OF FILIPINO BROKEN BECAUSE OF HIS DEFEAT

HE WENT TO SLEEP NEVER TO AWAKEN AGAIN ON THIS EARTH

By J. E. HELFERT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Milwaukee, Wis., April 21.—His heart broken because of his defeat and his head throbbing as the blood oozed from a burst artery in his brain, Little Sencio Moldez, 21 year old Filipino boxer, went to sleep never to awaken.

This is the way Walter "Whitey" Ekwert, trainer, described the death of Moldez, who died Tuesday following his 10-round boxing match with Bud Taylor here Monday night.

According to Ekwert, Moldez, who is known to the boxing world as Clever Sencio, had his heart set upon winning this bout. A victory meant a great deal in his climb to the pinnacle of fame reached by his countryman, Pancho Villa, who was fly-weight champion of the world when he died.

Sencio, like Villa, was of the stable of Frank Churchill, New York. His death is the second tragedy for Churchill as Villa also died shortly after engaging in a boxing match.

For Taylor, who left for his home at Terre Haute, last night, following word that his year-old baby was ill, this is also the second tragedy. In 1924, Frankie Jerome, a little New York Irishman, beloved by all who knew him, died a short time after his bout with Taylor. While Taylor declared he did not intend to give up boxing, because he feels he was in no way responsible for the death of either Jerome or Sencio, he said he would take a trip into the northern Wisconsin woods to try to forget this latest unfortunate episode in his boxing career.

Today the body of Sencio will be taken to St. John's Cathedral where the last rites of the Catholic church will be performed. Then the mortal remains will be prepared for shipment to Manila, Philippine Islands. From there it will be taken to Taclolovan, Island of Leyte, his native village, where he was born and raised and where his parents, of the poor working class, and several brothers and sisters survive him, for burial.

According to W. E. Miller, handling the affairs of Churchill here, the body will be accompanied on its journey across the sea by some one of Churchill's stable. It will be shipped from here to Vancouver, where it will be placed aboard a vessel about May 1, which should reach Manila about May 22.

Miller said that Sencio first came to the attention of Churchill when he weighed about 85 pounds. He was given a chance to show his ability and soon became a wind-up boxer. He gained much recognition in the island following his 15-round fight with Pancho Villa on May 2, 1925, at Manila, to whom he lost a decision after a great fight.

Sencio, according to Miller, was of Biyayan tribe, of which Villa was also a member.

Sencio's death is the second boxing fatality in Wisconsin, Jack Perry, Chicago, having died after a bout with Sammy Marin here several months ago.

The death will not in any way affect Wisconsin boxing, Arthur J. Schinner, chairman of the Wisconsin boxing commission, declared in commenting upon the case.

"Everything was done to safeguard against any accident. The entire affair is unfortunate but was purely accidental," he said.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 21.—"Monday night you saw him fight his last ring battle, today you pay your last respects to his mortal remains."

With these words, Rev. William E. Wright began his tribute to Sencio Moldez at funeral services conducted at St. John's Cathedral here today.

"Although I did not know this little fellow, a stranger in a strange land, I have been told by those who knew him well, that he was a clean fighter, a credit to the game and to his friends. These qualities speak for his character."

As Father Wright continued his tribute, Sencio's few friends, several fans, trainers, rubbers and fighters listened carefully. Tears rolled down their cheeks as they wept unashamed.

Many were there who, perhaps, had not been inside a church since their childhood. Some knelt during the entire services with their heads buried in their arms, while others just sat staring at the casket.

Long before the funeral procession, the hearse and the two other cars arrived at the church, persons gathered at the church.

A parochial school adjoins the cathedral and those little fellows, hero worshippers of all athletes, stood at the curb awaiting the arrival of the body.

When the procession finally arrived at the church, six friends of Sencio, men with whom he had trained and associated since his arrival in the United States less than a year ago, carried the casket containing his body into the church. They were Tod Morgan, Doc Snell and Pete Sarmiento, all boxers; W. E. Miller, Sencio's business representative, and Walter Ekwert and Fred Brings, trainers.

Mrs. Fred Brings and Mrs. Walter Ekwert, who had known the little fellow, and who had loved his smiling ways, were also members of the mourning group.

Inside the church were a large number of parochial school children, their hands folded and their faces uplifted in prayer as the casket was wheeled down the aisle to the foot of the altar.

Nuns, teachers at the parochial school, were also there. Seated next to them were the pug-nosed fighters, the trainers and the fans all paying final respects to Sencio.

Pete Sarmiento, fellow countryman of Sencio and last of the three wonder Filipinos brought to this country by Frank Churchill, presented a tragic figure. Tears filled his eyes as he walked beside the casket as it was wheeled to the foot of the altar. During the entire services he knelt in prayer, his head in his arms.

Tod Morgan, junior lightweight, and Doc Snell, bantamweight, both showing battered noses and flattened ears, also wept unashamed, as did "Whitey" Ekwert, Sencio's trainer.

Father Wright, in his sermon, immediately following the performance of the rites of the Catholic church over the body, spoke on the "Uncertainty of Life."

"Only Monday night you saw him fight. You saw him put everything he had into that fight in order to win. Little did you realize or even he himself that today his body would be resting in a casket. This cannot help but impress upon you the shortness of life. You may be next."

Little Sencio, physically perfect, was snatched away while asleep. You cannot help but remember for a long time this great little fighter, whose father and mother and brothers and sisters, far away in the Philippines mourn his passing.

"No matter what creed, no matter who you are, say a prayer for this little fellow, a clean fighter, a credit

MARCONY TO MEET MCCARTHY IN FINISH MATCH

MIDDLEWEIGHT WRESTLERS TO TUSSELE IT OUT AT GARDNER HALL FRIDAY, APRIL 30

DAN BROWN IS TO MEET JACK GORMAN OF OMAHA IN RETURN MATCH

Tony Marcony, the middleweight wrestler who, gave the tussler introduced as "Bull" Olson such a "battle royal" recently in Brainerd, will meet Jack McCarthy of Hill City, Minn., at Gardner Hall, on Friday, April 30, in a finish match, the winner to take on Waino Ketonen, title holder. It will be remembered that although Marcony was outweighed by about 40 pounds in his match with Olson, he gave a very good account of himself. In the coming match, the boys are evenly matched, both tipping the scales at 158 pounds, thereby insuring the public a fast and clever exhibition.

In the semi-windup Dan Brown and Jack Gorman will clash again in a return match. In the last bout these boys put up an exhibition of speed and cleverness which would be hard to duplicate, although it was speedily terminated in the first fall by an accident, Gorman being knocked unconscious when he struck the back of his head when Brown crashed him suddenly to the mat. But during the few moments the tussle lasted both wrestlers demonstrated that they were in class A-1 and the public will welcome the chance to see them in a return finish match.

Several good primaries have also been arranged, and Marcony states that the public will be satisfied or money returned. Tickets are going fast, being on sale at Smraker's Pool Hall, DeSmidt's, Ransford Billiard Parlors and Princess Candy Kitchen. Dr. A. A. Steinfeldt will act as referee.

Championship Bout Arrangements Delayed by Weather

Fort Worth, Tex., April 21.—(U P)—The elements today continued to throw obstacles in the path of Tex Rickard and progress toward his negotiations with Jack Dempsey for a possible championship bout some time this fall.

Dempsey's train en route from El Paso to Fort Worth for conference with Rickard, was indefinitely delayed, Texas & Pacific railroad officials said here today, with the train 15 hours overdue.

Dempsey's train was held up throughout Tuesday at Toyah, 400 miles west of here by flooded tracks and washouts. Heavy rains swept eastward during the night along the path Dempsey will have to follow to Fort Worth and rail officials would not venture a guess as to the time of the champion's arrival.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 21.—(U P)—Thrown behind schedule more than 12 hours by floods in west Texas, Jack Dempsey arrived here today for a belated conference with Tex Rickard regarding a possible championship bout.

Dempsey detrained from his pullman and registered at a hotel where Rickard had awaited him since Monday.

Rickard joined the champion's party for breakfast.

13 BRUSH FIRES IN 3 COUNTIES

District Forester Department Gets Reports From Wide-spread Area

5 HOMES, 2 BARN BURNED

Department Starts Prosecution of All Persons Starting Fires Without Permits

With continued dry weather and high winds the district forester department are faced with a new fire situation today throughout the county and considerable property loss. Thirteen fires are reported burning today. Two vacant houses were burned to the ground yesterday and one vacant barn in Lakin township. The buildings were burned to the ground when the fire swept through the township.

Two cottages were reported burned at Shaminaw Lake yesterday, south of Motley township in Morrison county. The owners are unknown.

Fire was reported this morning to be sweeping the northeast side of Oak Long township, five reports having come in to the Forest Department here. Milton Rhodes of the department here was dispatched to the fire at the first report but no reports have been received as yet as to any property damage.

The 13 new fires today are reported to be burning all over the district. One building was reported burned to the ground in Bull Moose township.

In Walden township yesterday a forest fire was started by a four-year-old boy. The boy whose name has not been reported set fire to his father's house while playing with matches. Frantic attempts to put out the fire were useless in the face of the strong wind. The two-story house and barn burned to the ground and the fire spread from the buildings to the forest where it started a fire.

A set of unoccupied buildings, comprising a house, barn and adjoining sheds were burned to the ground yesterday in Moose Lake township in Cass county.

Many haystacks and small sheds have been burned as the fire swept through the townships.

A fire however has been headed off in Oak Lawn township but a new flare-up is reported near Deerwood.

Fire Situation Getting Worse

"The fire situation is gradually getting worse each day" said Anson E. Pimley, of the state department at St. Paul who is in Brainerd looking over the situation. The timber damage is considerable and there has been considerable property loss. We are getting down to the situation now where the fires are becoming serious and we want the cooperation of everybody in preventing forest fires. We find that the majority of the fires have been started where farmers have started fires to their meadows. We have received no reports where fires have started from lands where permits have been granted to burn over."

The department means to prosecute to the extent of the law every one who is brought up for starting fires without permits. Ray Eveland, of Pine River township was brought before Justice of the Peace Brewer at Pine River on Monday charged with permitting an unauthorized fire to burn on his property and failing to make any effort to put it out or report to the forest officers as is required by state law. Eveland pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs.

Fire at Nisswa

Residents of Nisswa turned out this morning en masse to prevent a fire which it is believed started from a spark from a passing freight train from wiping out the town, and won. The house and cottage of Mrs. William Murray was saved by the efforts of the firefighters. The cottages of J. M. Quinn were also threatened but the fire was stopped before it reached them.

The fire is now under control.

WALTER H. COBBAN AS REPRESENTATIVE

Will Represent Local Isaak Walton League at St. Paul on May 23

WATER LEVEL CONFERENCE

Meeting to be Held in Office of Game and Fish Commissioner Gould

Walter H. Cobban who has been chosen to represent Chapter 38 of the Isaak Walton League of Brainerd, will attend the conference in St. Paul on May 23, when the Upper Mississippi Water Level question will be discussed. The meeting will be held in the office of James F. Gould, game and fish commissioner and will be attended by Captain Culler, representative of the United States Bureau of Fisheries. Thaddeus Surber, superintendent of fish propagation and others will also be in attendance.

The request that Brainerd send a representative to the conference was received from Mr. Gould by Henry I. Cohen, president of the local Isaak Walton league here. Residents of Brainerd, Nisswa and others are particularly interested in Gull and Whitefish chain of lakes. Interested parties in Aitkin, Itasca and Cass counties will also be present at the conference.

The following letter was received on April 19, by Mr. Cohen from Commissioner James F. Gould, relative to the situation:

Replying to your communication of April 16th would say I thought everybody in Crow Wing County was familiar with what the property owners on all the lakes from Gull Lake North or the head waters of the Mississippi and this department have been trying to accomplish for two years past with regard to the maintenance of a uniform stage of water above all the Government flood control reservoir dams in the Mississippi.

I recall on two different occasions when I visited Brainerd that groups of 50 or 60 people from Nisswa and other points on Gull Lake came to the meeting and demanded relief from a low stage of water maintained by the Government in Gull Lake and the lakes above it on the Mississippi.

The Brainerd Dispatch some two or three weeks ago carried an editorial under the heading, "Regulating Lake Levels" and quoting from a letter addressed to A. M. Opsahl, chairman of your Lake Levels committee by Congressman Knutson.

I have been pounding all the Minnesota congressmen and our two United States senators to get an amendment passed during the present session of congress to the Rivers and Harbors Act to accomplish our purpose, and the result is that the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries has been directed to make a survey and investigation, but before doing so the Commissioner, Mr. O'Malley, decided to send Captain Culler of Winona to see me and others for a conference on the subject. Hence my telegram to you.

Yours very truly,
J. F. GOULD,
Commissioner.

"KNIGHTS OF THE SQUARE TABLE"

Five Reel Moving Picture Full of Thrills and Action to be Shown April 29

AT 1ST METHODIST CHURCH

Scouts of Brainerd and Their Parents and Friends to Attend Performance

(Contributed)
A five-reel moving picture entitled "Knights of the Square Table" full of thrills and action will be shown at the First Methodist church Thursday, April 29, for the Scouts of Brainerd and their parents. In fact, every boy who has ever been a Scout will be welcome that night.

Thursday night is going to be a red letter day in Scouting in Brainerd and one that will be remembered for quite a while. It is to be the annual camp reunion, at which time all the old campers get together and talk over the old camp seasons, looking forward to a bigger and better camp during the coming summer. The tales of a wild snipe hunt will probably be talked over or maybe that old treasure hunt or probably that feed in tent after taps. Who knows? Then a few good songs. Don't miss this part as you will surely enjoy it.

Then the Scouts are going to have a meeting of the Court of Honor which was postponed from tonight for this occasion. This will give all Scouts an extra week to complete their First Class of Merit Badges which they might be working on so as to be up before this meeting. Let's get busy gang! There are not as many badges to be awarded as there should be. Those who are Second Class should complete their First Class in order to get their Merit Badges at Camp this summer and those that are First Class should take those Merit Badges that they can't take at camp so that we can finish up a few Eagles this summer.

Every Scout should bring his dad and mother as they will certainly enjoy the meeting immensely. Any boy who is not in Scouting because his parents object should bring them that night because no doubt he will have their consent before leaving.

Watch the paper gang! You will hear more about this.

They fail to realize that weak kidneys are often to blame for that backache, those headaches, dizzy spells and that tired, depressed feeling. Mrs. A. C. Hanson, 911 Kingwood St., says: "My back was sore and stiff. Stopping irritated my back and kidneys. I had a constant, dull ache through the small of my back that just laid me up. I had such dizzy spells I didn't know what I was doing. I used Doan's Pills and they rid me of the misery."

CRASH ON L ROAD IN CHICAGO

PASSENGERS OF BOTH TRAINS ARE HURLED FROM THEIR SEATS

Chicago, April 21. — (UP) — A crowded express train on Chicago's elevated system, speeding into the loop with hundreds of down town workers, today crashed into the rear of a local train hurling passengers of both trains from their seats.

Many persons were treated for minor injuries but attendants said no one was seriously hurt.

The express train telescoped the rear end of the local and glass was shattered in the cars of both trains. Passengers were bruised by being thrown to the floor while many were cut by flying glass.

The train crew of the express train said that brakes on the fast train failed to work when applied as the train rushed into the station where the local was at a stop.

NEW RICHMOND HIGH SCHOOL BURNED DOWN

New Richmond, Wis., April 21. — (UP) — The New Richmond high school was destroyed by fire here today with loss estimated at $50,000. Spontaneous combustion in a store room is believed the cause.

Fire apparatus was called from Hudson, Wis., and Stillwater, Minn., but the flames had gained such headway before discovered that efforts of firemen were futile.

STOCKS CLIMB TO HIGHER LEVELS

New York, April 21. — (UP) — Stocks heard of the rise in the thermometer today and followed the rise of mercury in climbing to higher levels.

Believing that spring business would be accelerated by warmer weather, traders bought automobile and merchandising shares and other issues likely to benefit from seasonal trade expansion. As stocks like Woolworth, General Motors, Dupont and Hudson had attracted an extensive following on the decline it took comparatively little fresh buying to start them on fairly good rally due to urgent covering which developed as the rally proceeded.

Another factor which helped along the recoil from the recent selling movement was easement of call money to 3½ per cent, the lowest rate since the end of last summer. This drop bore out the expectation of a steady downward trend on borrowing costs and encouraged large scale investment buying after New York Central, C. & O. Southern Railways and other standard dividend paying issues whose yields are considerably higher than the return held for by the money market.

"Sea Horses" Is Triumph

Film directors, like other folks, have their specialties. Some prefer to produce comedies, others melodramas, and still others massive spectacles. A director with a flair for gripping dramas is more apt to produce a successful picture if the story has a lot of stirring action and heart appeal than if it is of the slapstick comedy type, and vice versa.

All of which is merely an introduction to the statement that Paramount's dynamic version of Francis Brett Young's vivid novel, "Sea Horses," showing at the New Park Friday and Saturday, two days only is a distinct directorial triumph for Allan Dwan, who proves once again that his forte is spectacular melodrama.

In "Memory Lane"

The happy lane of memory, down which everyone travels in moments of reverie, is the theme of "Memory Lane," which has its last showing at the Lyceum tonight.
